MISSISSIPPI FLOOD.

Death of a U. S. Naval Officer.

THE WRECKED "CITY OF PARIS."

An Enterprising Reporter Goes to Prison.

The Government Must Settle the Silcott Claims.

The Mississippi Flood.

Memphis, March 31.—The rain has fallen in torrents since last night. The Mississippi is again rising, and it is probable that all the low land below Helena is overflowed.

A break in the levee occurred at midnight at Austin, Miss., which this morning had widened to 300 feet, with no possible way to close the gap, and it may increase to an unlimited extent. All the plantations in the vicinity are being rapidly submerged, and all the tenants are leaving without saving any of their effects.

A Heavy Snowfall.

St. Louis, March 31.—Twenty inches of snow fell over an area of a 100-mile radius from this city yesterday. Half of this has melted and the rest will melt soon, adding to the already dangerous flood in the Mississippi below here. There is much suffering among the people in the flooded districts.

An Afflicted People.

Louisville, March 31.—It has been snowing since early last evening, which, it is feared, will greatly damage the goods in the tobacco district. A water famine is threatened in serious earnest. The river is at such a high stage the injury to the pumping station cannot be repaired. The river is still rising and as long as the flood continues nothing can be done. President Long estimates that the reservoirs will barely hold a three days' supply. The last of the dead are being laid away to-day.

In a Bad Condition.

Queentown, March 31.—The stern of the City of Paris is deeply sunk, but the bows are high out of the water. The steam pumps are at work, but are hardly gaining on the volume of water flowing in.

The water is gaining on the pumps in the steamer City of Paris. It may be necessary to beach her cargo.

Too Much Enterprise.

New York, March 31.—Dilworth Choate, who secreted himself in the jury-room while the jury was considering the Flack case, was to-day sentenced to 50 days' imprisonment and fined $250.

The Government Must Settle.

Washington, March 31.—The Court of Claims to-day gave judgment in favor of Representative Crain of Texas in a suit to compel the Government to reimburse him for money lost through the defalcation of Silcott.

The Government Must Settle.

Washington, March 31.—The Supreme Court this afternoon decided in favor of the ball-player, John M. Ward, in the suit against him by the Metropolitan company.

Death of a Naval Officer.

Washington, March 31.—Michael Stephen Rowan of the U. S. navy died of bright's disease this morning.

A DEMONSTRATIVE WIDOW.

An Attorney Embraced in Open Court.

Saturday evening's Virginia Chronicle is responsible for the following: While lawyers and clients were waiting inside of the railing of the District Court-room yesterday for Judge Rising, a dark-eyed widow, who recently lost her husband, was bowed to by District Attorney Stephens. The lady immediately rose from her seat, and approaching Mr. Stephens, grasped his right hand in hers, and kissing the other about his neck, planted an affectionate kiss on his mustache. The District Attorney blushingly endeavored to free himself from the lady's embrace, but did not succeed in doing so until she had kissed him the second time. After breaking away from the demonstrative lady, Mr. Stephens pointed to Deputy Sheriff Bleakley, who was laughing at the episode, and told her that the Sheriff was the man she would be under obligations to for the settlement of her husband's estate, but Mr. Bleakley declined the kiss of a kiss from her rosy lips on the ground that he did not wish to deprive her attorney, C. E. Mack, of that exquisite pleasure, to whom alone gratitude was due.

A California Blackmailed.

New York, March 31.—F. A. Fox, 137 Montgomery street, San Francisco, patentee of a car coupling, writes the Herald regarding his experience with blackmailers in Sheriff Flack's office. He came here on business, and a man claiming an interest in his car coupling took out an order of arrest for him. Deputy Sheriff McGonigal waited until night before serving it and coolly demanded $100 as the price for allowing him to remain at liberty for 24 hours. To save annoyance and distress to his wife, who was with him, he was compelled to pay it, and before the 24 hours was ended the Court declared there was no authority for the arrest under such circumstances.

A Light Sentence for a Grave Offense.

New York, March 31.—Sheriff Flack was sentenced to two months' imprisonment in the county jail and fined $500.

Joseph Meeks was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and serve one month in jail. W. L. Flack was fined $500 and sentenced to four months' imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

Judge Van Brunt granted a stay of proceedings in the case of the Flacks and Meeks, pending an appeal.

Japanese Coal.

Chicago, March 31.—T. Tomonari, a civil engineer of Japan, is in this country inspecting engineering enterprises with a view to an application to the work of a Japanese syndicate, backed by the Government, with a preliminary capital of $7,000,000, for the development of coal mines in northern Japan. The intention is to export coal to San Francisco for Pacific coast use. He says success is sure.

McKinley's Tariff Bill Reported to the House.

A Saloon-keeper Stabbed for Refusing a Drink.

Congressional Affairs.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—At a special meeting of the Ways and Means Committee Chairman McKinley presented the Republican tariff bill. The minority will be allowed ten days to offer amendments to the bill. The McKinley bill will effect a reduction of $45,000,000 in the revenues.

Among the articles placed on the free list are uncut diamonds and other precious stones, fish, the produce of American fisheries and fish caught by American vessels in the open waters between the United States and Canada; currants, Zante or others; dates, fruits, green, ripe or dried, not specifically enumerated; opium, crude or unmanufactured and not adulterated, containing 9 per cent. and over of morphine.

The bill has passed for the disposal under the homestead law of the abandoned Fort Ellis military reservation.

SENATE.

After the routine business, Reagan addressed the Senate on a bill for the issue of Treasury notes on deposits of silver billion.

He said he intended to relieve the country from the effects of the worst blunder of Congress—the suspending of silver coinage in 1873. He regarded it as a hopeful sign for a Republican Senator to join in the great work, even though the remedy proposed might not be the best. It was to be regretted that the committee had not reported a bill for the free, unlimited coinage of silver and gold. He would favor paying the bonded indebtedness of the Government in silver as well as gold; the issue of coincertificates, receivable for all dues and taxes, and the retirement of all legal tender and national bank notes of a less denomination than $20, and the substitution of coin certificates.

The dependent pension bill was then taken up. The first question was on an amendment removing the limitation as to the arrears of pensions, making the pension of wounds or disease commence from the date of the discharge of the soldiers.

The only change of special significance in the tariff bill since those already noted within the past week was in hides, which were finally placed upon the dutiable list at 15 per cent. ad valorem, with a provision allowing a drawback on exported goods made from import hide equal to the rate of duty paid.

The Senate to-day passed the dependent pension bill, 42 to 12.

The House Committee on Coins, Weights and Measures has agreed to offer a resolution for the consideration of the Windom bill on the 13th of April.

The President sent the nomination to the Senate of Clarence D. Clark, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Wyoming.

FATALLY STABBED.

Special to the GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Philip Martin, proprietor of a saloon on Clay street, was probably fatally stabbed early this morning by an unknown Austrian, who escaped. The Austrian entered the saloon and asked to be trusted for a drink. Martin refused his request, and a quarrel ensued, but before any blows were struck the stranger drew a knife and stabbed Martin in the abdomen. The latter was taken to the hospital.

A RAILWAY CONTRACT.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 31.—A contract has been made between Guatemala and a French syndicate for the construction of a railway from the capital to the Atlantic to connect with the Central railway, running between the capital and the Pacific, and thus complete an inter-oceanic route across the Republic.

THE CRUTIAL PRIZE-RING.

What a sporting paper has to say about it.

The San Francisco Spirit of the Times of March 29th says: It is a disgrace to San Francisco as a city, as a people, and to the authorities, that brutal, bloody prize fights are permitted to go on in our midst without let or hindrance.

We are very much incensed at the fact that the Chinese are getting a strong hold upon our municipal vitals; and an unconstitutional order is signed providing for their removal, that the cancer may be extirpated in one part of the city so that it may take root in another; but no effort is made to eradicate the plague spot of pugilism from our city.

San Francisco has become the Mecca for every brawler that had the buckshot with money enough to pay for transportation to come to in order to stand up in the regularly prescribed ring and fight for the dregs of those who delight in the world is such beastly manner tolerated as in this Queen City of the Pacific, for which thousands of dollars are paid out, while greed and desirability characterizes the present

The Rights of Women.

The following is an excerpt from a speech delivered by Elizabeth Cady Stanton, President of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, in Washington City on the 18th of last February:

We might get some agitation by trying a new field now, and do it for the equality for woman in the church. As women are the chief supporters of the church, get up all the fairs and donation parties, do all the begging to build churches, support missionaries and theological seminaries, many of them making large bequests to these various institutions, one would think the time had fully come for woman to demand the right of equal recognition in the church. She demands of the State, "She should assume her right and duty to take part in the revision of Bibles, prayerbooks and creeds; to vote on all questions of business, and to fill the offices of deacon, elder, Sunday-school superintendent, pastor and bishop, and have the right to sit and vote as delegate in all ecclesiastical conventions, synods and assemblies, that thus our religion may no longer be a dead letter, but an element in humanity, and that woman—the mother of the race—may be honored as she must be before we can have a happy home, a rational religion and an enduring government."

If educated woman had exerted any enlightened influence on the religious thought of the world, leading men in the nineteenth century would not stand debating the question of inferiority at this hour, harrowing up the souls of pale mothers, sorrowing over the joys of their first born. Men not endowed with the paternal instinct may pass unscathed through the ordeal of such a discussion, but alas, for the young mothers all over this land who read these atrocious sentiments in cold type, as they decorate with flowers the little graves of their lost ones! Our insane asylums are full of despicable, unimaginative young women, whose reason has been dethroned by these religious superstitions. Surely the yearning mother-love, once set free from old creeds and dogmas, must bring to humanity new light and hope, both for this world and the one to come.

As women are taking an active part in pressuring on the consideration of Congressmen and Senators of all persuasions, such as more rigid Sunday laws, to stop travel and the distribution of the mail on that day, and to introduce the name of God into the constitution,—as this action on the part of some woman is used as an argument for the disfranchisement of all, I hope this convention will declare that the Woman Suffrage Association is opposed to all forms of Church and State, and pledges itself as far as possible to maintain the secular nature of our government. As Sunday is the only day the laboring men can escape from the cities, to stop the street cars, omnibuses and railroads would, indeed, be a lamentable exercise of arbitrary authority. No, no, the duty of the State is to protect those who do the work of the world in the largest liberty, and instead of shutting them up in their gloomy temples, let them go forth, we should open wide the parks, horticultural gardens, the museums, the libraries, the galleries of art, and the music halls where they can listen to the divine melodies of the great masters. All these are questions of legislation, and what influence women will exert as voters is already being canvassed. Consider the importance of this association expressing its opinions on all questions on which woman's social, civil, religious and political rights are involved.

Consider the thousands of women with babies in their arms, year after year, who have no change to the dull routine of their lives, except on Sunday when their husbands can go with them on some little excursion by land or sea, suddenly finding themselves at home by the passage of a rigid Sunday law, secured by the votes of those who can drive about at pleasure in their own carriages, and go wherever they may desire.

BEFORE Prince Hatzfeldt married the adopted daughter of C. P. Huntington he lived with a woman of questionable virtue. Now the money of Mr. Huntington is demanded to pay for stockings, petticoats, ribbons, perfumery and other finery that Hatzfeldt got on "tick" for the woman while he lived with her. A few really vulgar and foolish Americans young women have brought contempt upon themselves by marrying titled blackguards in Europe. The character of the women of America is no more affected by the conduct of these silly girls than the manhood of Americans was affected by the villainy of Benedict Arnold.

WHILE cyclones are visiting the Sunny South and the Lower Mississippi is threatened with the greatest flood ever known in that section, Nevada is enjoying fine weather and nothing more disastrous has visited this region than a winter that makes all nature smile and insures an abundant harvest, which more than compensates the loss in live stock. Truly Nevada is blest. Her balmy atmosphere and sun-shiny days would be enjoyed in Italy.

AFTER having given for a full term, Cleveland's Cobden-Club, gold-bug administration a cordial support, it is a little wearying to hear the Democratic papers talk about the partisan character of the present Congress.

LAST Saturday's San Francisco Examiner exhibited commendable enterprise by the production of a plain and correctly drawn map showing the course of the Louisville cyclone, and more than two full pages of telegraphic reports concerning the same.

THE New Era of March 22d, published at Alturas, Modoc county, Cal, reports everybody sick with la grippe. This extraordinary malady seems to have sought out every inhabited part of the country, no matter how remote from the railroads.

Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me at once, and after using 12 bottles I was entirely cured. I have gained my usual weight, 170 pounds, and have had excellent health ever since." T. J. JOTTINGS.

Oranges and lemons—the freshest at Leadbetter's, maple syrup, the genuine article—just the thing for hotcakes.

Those naval oranges and California figs to be had at C. J. Brookins' variety store are as fine as were ever seen in this market.

For a liberal glass of Boca or Fredericksburg beer and a hot lunch eat at the average meal, go to J. J. Becker's Chicago saloon.

Besides his Pacific and Fredericksburg beer, Geo. Becker carries a complete stock of liquors, cigars and both month and native wines.

People in search of a place to buy the best family groceries at the lowest retail prices, should not fail to call at J. N. Wallace's Commercial Row store.

To the Riverside for a neat room and bed, and as fine a meal as the most fastidious epicure can wish. A free bus runs to all passenger trains.

Miss Emma Gibbs' lively Spring trade in the latest styles of hats and bonnets shows that her stock of ladies headwear has been selected with excellent taste and judgment.

There is no time of the day or night that a first-class meal cannot be had at the Arcade Restaurant. Lemery knows what the public wants and never fails to give satisfaction.

The reason C. A. Thompson is never heard of again is hard times because he lets people know what he has for sale, thereby showing that he is thoroughly schooled in the method of the successful business man.

Don't Go Off Before you Are Ready.

Particularly on a long journey. Be fully prepared. You cannot, be permitted us to say, unless you are accompanied with the traveler's and tourist's vade mecum, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, most genial of appetizers, acclimatizers and promoters of digestion. Against sea sickness, malaria, cramps and colic; against all bad-tempered and unkindly diseases. It relieves nervousness increased by travel, chronic biliousness, and constipation. The Bitters is a sovereign remedy for all forms of biliousness, for those who are subject to it, and prevents it from disagreeing with you. Never was there such a capital failing for the unfeignedly dyspeptic who needs the best of the best concocted medicine. Stomachic trouble caused by ill prepared viands aboard ship, on steamboats, and rations hastily boiled at sea, are removed and soothed by the Bitters, which a quietus also to rheumatism, kidney troubles and insomnia.

Will Be Forced to Vacate.

A party of prospectors have found valuable gold and silver leads near Carizo Mountains, in the Navajo Reservation, in New Mexico, and refuse to leave. The discovery is supposed to be the lost Adams diggings, which has been sought for time and again. A force of regulars have gone to drive the miners out of the reservation.

Mr. B. F. Masters, Cashier of
Emmitt & Co.'s Bank at Waverly, Ohio, says: "I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best I have ever used. After using several other kinds, without benefit, I tried it and it quickly cured me, after years of suffering with an obstinate cough and throat trouble." 50 cent bottles for sale by Shoemaker & Co.

A Safe Investment.

One which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. A BAD MOVE.

The Huntington-Hopkins Company's Attempt to Divert Trade to San Francisco.

The withdrawal of Messrs. Schaw, Surgeon and Batchelder from the Huntington-Hopkins Company of Sacramento and the abandonment of the Sacramento house as a wholesale establishment has led to much speculation in commercial circles. The gentlemen above named have bought into a San Francisco house, and have cut loose from Huntington, Hopkins & Co.

The Sacramento Bee contains the following: For some time past a report has been circulated all over the Pacific coast to the effect that the Huntington-Hopkins Company was about to close up its wholesale business in Sacramento, because, notwithstanding the fact that it was managed by three of the brightest hardware men on the coast, it was not paying. By the circulation of this report much damage has been done to the reputation of the entire central and northern part of the State. In the early part of February a representative of the Bee, who had not yet heard of the report referred to, was in Portland, Or., and was astonished to find, on the part of a number of old Sacramentoans now in business there, a belief that the entire portion of California north of San Francisco had received a very serious set-back; that business could no longer be done on a paying basis; that the orchards and vineyards were only expensive luxuries; that the vaunted citrus belt had turned out to be a boom myth; and that, in short, the people had found out that the country was worthless, and that the inevitable distressing results of such a condition of things had already commenced.

On WHAT IT WAS FOUND.

By inquiry it was ascertained that these ideas were founded on the statement, apparently well substantiated, that the Huntington-Hopkins Company had given orders to close out its large hardware business in Sacramento, a business dating back to the fifties and which now occupies a three-story building 80 feet front and 160 feet deep, and a warehouse 140x160 and which commands a large portion of the trade of the northern part of the State and Nevada. In Sacramento at the same time statements were generally circulated, on good authority, that the company referred to had concluded to close out its wholesale business in this city and to cut down the force of men employed about one-half, and to do in the future a purely retail business because, it was claimed, the wholesale business did not pay. A number of employees had already been let off, and others notified that their services would not be required for more than a month longer. The Record-Union of February 17th published an apparently unauthorized statement to the effect that the company had closed out its wholesale business here and was shipping all goods to the San Francisco house. It was ascertained that drummers of the company were doing what they could to divide accounts to the San Francisco house, and that circumstances had been sent all over the northern part of the State.

The GAZETTE does not believe that the Huntington, Hopkins & Co. can in any manner affect the trade of the fair city of the plains by such a move, for Baker & Hamilton have succeeded in establishing a trade in that city that no firm or individual can affect. In fact, they have been cutting into the wholesale business of H. H. & Co., until that firm found it necessary to do something.

ENTIRELY COMPLETED.

The Inyo Canal, Thirty Miles Long, Finished.

The Inyo (Cal.) Index of the 20th inst. says: On Tuesday last, March 20th, Superintendent McIver knocked the lower end out of the Inyo Canal. This is the greatest irrigation work in Owens Valley. The canal is 30 miles long and has a capacity of 7,500 inches. The water is taken from Owens river on the east side, about 10 miles above Independence Station, and is conveyed along the base of the Inyo mountains to Owens Lake. Work was begun on the canal early in June, 1887, and was prosecuted continuously. About ten miles of the canal is in rocky ground and rock, which added materially to the cost of construction and time required to complete the work. The company will at once begin on another of equal capacity with the first, the head of which will be near the Independence bridge. This second line will be about 15 miles in length and being further from the mountains, will doubtless be in more favorable ground, and consequently can be excavated more rapidly.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS THAT HAVE NEVER BEEN REDEEMED.

"Say, are these any good?" inquired a timid-looking young man of Doorkeeper Braly at the sub-treasury the other day as he exposed to view a half dozen pieces of ragged, dirty paper. A close inspection, says the New York Commercial Advertiser, revealed that they were fractional paper currency or "skin-plasters," such as played so important a part as a circulating medium before the resumption of specie payment. The young man was directed to the small change room, where R. C. Haff took the soiled and crumpled bits in his hands, smoothed them out with the hasty touch of an expert, singled out one of the pieces and turned 'round to a bit of wood, that looked like a small butcher's block, and struck on it the selected piece of paper a whack with a steel instrument. Then turning to the man, said: "These five are good, but that one is counterfeit."

As he spoke he handed back the spurious note-paper and across the face was the word "counterfeit" cut clean and clear. The steel instrument with which he had struck the paper was a sharp stencil die that cut the tell-tale word so clearly that it could never be effaced and the veriest fool could see that it was worthless.

"Do you want these redeemed?" continued Mr. Haff, as he pointed to the five grimy slips on the marble counter. "Yes, sir, if you please," stammered the youth, as he eyed with surprise and fear the mutilated piece returned to him. Mr. Haff put two bright silver dollars and a silver quarter on the counter, which the boy picked up in a hurry as though he was afraid they would be taken back again.

"Do you get much of that old fractional currency now?" was asked of Mr. Haff as the boy went out.

"No," he replied, "we get very little now, not more than $2,500 a year. The amount coming in for redemption is growing less and less every year. It used to come in here by the bushel basketful. But for many years now it has only come in in dribs and drabs. We seldom get as much at a time as that young man just brought in."

"Did you ever discover anything very peculiar among your packages?"

"Well, I should say so. I remember once, about twelve years ago, when we had a decided sensation here. There was a big square box unloaded from the train, and as it was not immediately called for, it was ordered to the back part of the room. The box was clumsy and lop-sided, much heavier on one side than the other, and the man who grappled with it was possessed of a good deal of energy. When he had rolled it nearly across the room, one of the sides gave way and out rolled a human skull and about a bushel of bones and other debris. It was a mighty tough-looking mass, and the fellow who had been handling it lit out as if he had opened a barrel of rattlesnakes. The police authorities were immediately notified, and upon investigation it was found that besides the human remains the box also contained a tombstone, with the name and age of the deceased, and an epitaph inscribed upon it.

"While all hands were deliberating over the matter, a man came in and claimed the box. He explained that the contents of the box were the remains of a near relative of his, who had died a couple of years before in Pennsylvania, and that now he was transporting them to his new home in the northern part of the State. For the sake of economy and convenience he had put the whole business in a home-made box.

"The box was speedily repaired, and went on to its final destination."

MULES WENT UP.

The Bees Beard Uncle Reuben and Made
His Animal Move.

One spring day, about a mile outside of Decatur, Ala., a hive of bees belonging to Colonel Clark went on a swarming, a matter which should happen to every well-regulated hive about once in so often. Just at that time, says the New York Sun, Uncle Reuben Slathers, an old colored man, was coming into town with his mule and a "jag" of wood. The road was pretty heavy and the mule very lazy, and to keep the flies off the beast Uncle Reuben had stuck several branches into the harness. Coming along toward the Clark place the old man was saying:

"Now, yo' good-ur-sat meowl, yo' lift dem hoofs an' walk along er you'll hafta meowl to me!" If yo' han't de laziest, dog-gondest onery beast in dis hull State I'll leave 'de church. Why, sah, I'd sell yo' fur two dollars an' one leetle 'possum!"

About this time the bees got a move on them from the hive and by accident or design the queen settled down on one of the branches waving over Uncle Reuben's mule. The rest followed suit, and in two minutes the animal was loaded. She had come to a halt of her own accord and the old man sat with his mouth open and gazed in astonishment. Not for long, however. Some of the bees skirmishing around on the outside concluded to feel of the old mule and see what she was made of, and about fifty stingers entered her feelings at once she reared up, uttered a terrific snort and started off at break-neck. Lack of Cleanliness.

A funny story is going the rounds of a young lady who found a horse-shoe, and, wishing for good luck, placed it under the pillow in company with her false teeth. In the morning in the hurry of dressing she substituted the shoe for the teeth and wore it for some time before the mistake was discovered. This story was told to a young lady visiting Meadville, Pa., and with grateful astonishment in her voice she exclaimed: "And never washed the shoe!" She was evidently more surprised over the lack of cleanliness than the size of the girl's mouth.

THE ELECTRICAL GOOSE.

A New Device for Smoothing Out Wrinkles in Masculine Garments.

The latest of the many late things in electricity is the electrical goose, which dates from Minneapolis, where it has been used for smoothing out the wrinkles and other excrescences of blue jeans overalls. It is of about the same size and weight as the ordinary tailor's goose, but there the resemblance ends.

It is described by the girl who is instructed with its manipulation as being a perfect wonder. The electric current is supplied from an overhead wire by an ordinary silk-covered wire with plenty of slack. As each garment is brought to the bench of the manipulator she grasps the goose, and in a trice the overall is ready for the next operator in the long list that go to fit it for the hired man or the chimney sweep. The girl who is handling the goose says she can do a third more work with it than with the old kind, and with a good deal less fatigue.

HOME HINTS AND HELPS.

—A damp cloth dipped in salt will remove brown stains from lamp chimneys and gas globes, also tea stains from china ware.

—All fancy hosestry should be put into a strong solution of salt and cold water before wearing, well saturated and dried without wringing, either in the shade or in a warm room.

—To starch collars, make some gun water of clear gum arabic; keep it in a bottle, and when wished add a little of it and a trifle of common soda into the ordinary starch. It adds both gloss and stiffness to the collars.

—Fried Celery.—Boil some fine stalks of celery, lay them on a dish, season with pepper, salt, chopped parsley, vinegar and sweet oil; after they have lain in this mixture one hour dip them in butter and fry in hot lard. When brown, sprinkle with salt and serve.

—Parsons' Fritters.—Boil some fine stalks of celery, lay them on a dish, season with salt and pepper to taste, add a teaspoonful of butter, one well-beaten egg and one teaspoonful of flour. Make into flat cakes and fry in hot butter and lard or beef drippings to a nice brown.

—Graham Puffs.—Sift one pint of Graham flour and one of white, with one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder and two teaspoonsfuls of salt. Beat three eggs well, add one quart of milk and pour on to the sifted flour. Beat hard for a minute, pour into hot, greased pan and bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes or half an hour.

—Cocoa Nibs.—Put one-quarter pound cocoa nibs into a china-lined saucepan, add one pint of warm water and boil for twenty minutes; pour off the liquor into a jug, add another pint of warm water (three pints in all) and boil twenty minutes, and mix this with the other liquor. It will be found to have a delicious aroma and the soft flavor of the nibs, without any bitterness, which is apt to be the case when cocoa nibs are stewed for several hours.

—Stuff a cold and starve a fever! is the sheerest nonsense, and worse. Large supplies of food not only add to the existing clogging of the system, but they weaken the general circulation by attracting a disproportionate amount of blood to the stomach. Usually the omission of food, entirely is best, or if the system is weakened by hunger give a small amount of concentrated, easily digested nourishment, like beef tea, rare-cooked lean meat, soft-boiled eggs, oatmeal or the like, merely enough to strengthen the system into activity.—Orange Judd Farmer.

—The writer in the New York Journal of Commerce takes exception to the use of such phrases as nom de plume (which by the way is declared not to be good French) and nom de guerre and sur le tapis, preferring the English equivalents. He says that sur le tapis should not be translated "on the carpet," but "on the table," as it signifies the green baize with which tables are covered.

—Frances Berry Whitehead is scarcely known by name to the present generation of American readers, yet she wrote one of the most popular books of her time, "The Widow Bedott Papers." She was born in Oneida County, N. Y., in 1811, and died there in 1852. In 1847 she married Mr. Whitehead, an Episcopal clergyman, and it was the peculiarities of his flock which she portrayed in her "papers."
